Classroom based leadership development does not provide the real-time learning and development necessary to meet the demands of the fast paced business world. This chapter provides solutions to this challenging life transition and its societal impact. Selecting leaders who can bring positive, values-based change to the nonprofit industry represents a significant challenge and an opportunity.

Cheryl is one of the most vibrant, intelligent, and creative individuals, I have ever known. I refractively think to change the world. Payment available through PayPal accepts credit cards!

Nonprofit boards may use existing instruments, such as the Multifactor Leadership Questionnaire. A few will dispute that the only constant in life is the very nature of change itself, with change being simply a function of the inevitable passage of time, what is often overlooked with this conceptual element of change and its strategic management is the process, the function of change. Building Bridges over Resistance.
